

RQ1: Which types of knowledge and assumptions about people-on-the-move are inscribed in data models of national and transnational security infrastructures? What implications does this have for how organizations can search and match identity data?

Data models

Comparing data models

Wouter V. Rossem

Categories of data

Given	Family
Wouter	Van Rossem
W.R.	van Rossem

RQ2 How do organizations that collect information about people-on-the-move search and match for identity data in their systems? How is data about people-on-the-move matched and linked across different agencies and organizations?

Data values

Data practices

RQ3: How do knowledge and technology for matching identity data circulate and travel across organizations?

Sociotechnical change